

NEW SEASON'S HONEY, 2017

Residents of Hampton, Kate Canning and Ian Cole trained at Twickenham Beekeepers Association and have been keeping honey bees for 16 years. Thanks to Ray Brodie, Bushy Park's Manager, their bees have been happily in residence at Bushy Park for the past 7 years.

The bees forage on a variety of flowering trees and plants in and around the park, looking for nectar and pollen. Lime, Sweet Chestnut, Cherry, Elderflower, Blackberry are some of the sources noted, but the bees have a wide flying radius and can search out nectar sources from local gardens. Depending on our English weather, the honey the bees produce varies from year to year.

As members of FBHP, Kate and Ian are delighted at this mutual benefit for both Bushy Park and their bees. They are proud to offer their honey for sale at the Information Point. Profits from the honey sales go to support park projects supported by FBHP.
